

THE VALUE OF AAOHN Membership

When you join the American Association of Occupational Health Nurses (AAOHN) you can easily offset the cost of your $175 regular membership with savings and discounts only available to members. Visit aaohn.org for more information.

$3,000 Education Dollars

Apply for a number of different grants and scholarships to receive up to $3,000 to use towards continuing education, development of leadership skills and occupational and environmental health research.

Hundreds of Dollars Reference Materials

Access an extensive library of free reference materials, position statements and educational resources that would cost hundreds of dollars a year.

Member-only Discount Insurance Policies

Member-only discount for a comprehensive professional liability insurance policy, specifically designed for OHNs.

$500 Conference Registration

Save nearly $500 on registration for the National Conference, the largest meeting of OHN professionals in the world. (Conference savings alone cover an annual membership!)

$125 Journal Access

Avoid the $125 price tag for Workplace Health & Safety, the organization's monthly peer-reviewed journal.

1 Voice Partnerships

Be part of a unified voice tracking important legislative affairs. Access to a network of partners, including CDC, NIOSH, OSHA, NCC and ISF.

$225 Salary Survey

Learn more about OHN compensation and benefits without paying the $225 fee.

$200 Webinars

Save $200 a year on live and on-demand continuing nursing education webinars.

15% Publication Products

15% discount on SAGE Publications products.

Total Estimated Savings = $4,050+
When you add it all up, an AAOHN membership just makes sense.

NOTE: Estimated savings based on the average regular member taking advantage of AAOHN membership benefits vs the cost of accessing each of these resources as a non-member individual.
